1953 ASTON MARTIN DB2

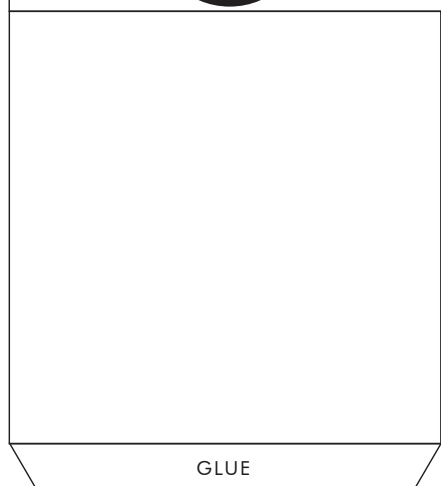

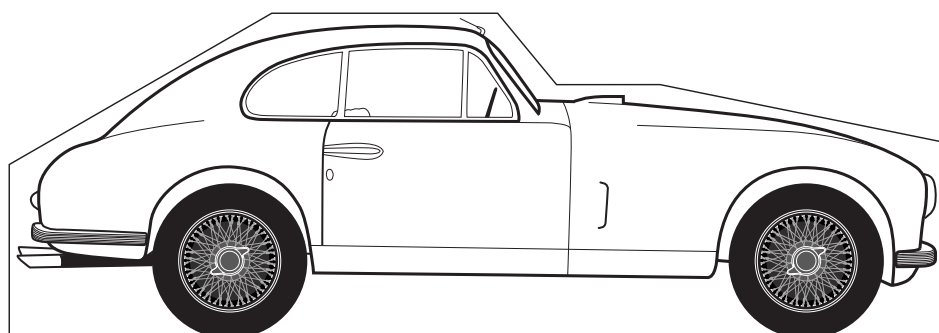

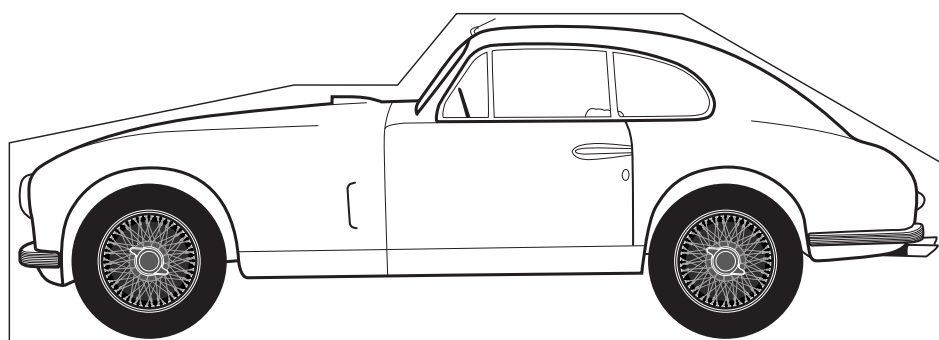

YEAR: 1953

ENTERED HAYNES COLLECTION: 1995

SPECIAL FEATURES: The DB2 was the first Aston Martin with the DB initials, which currently is up DB11. DB stands for David Brown who saved the company in 1947 by buying it for £20,500.

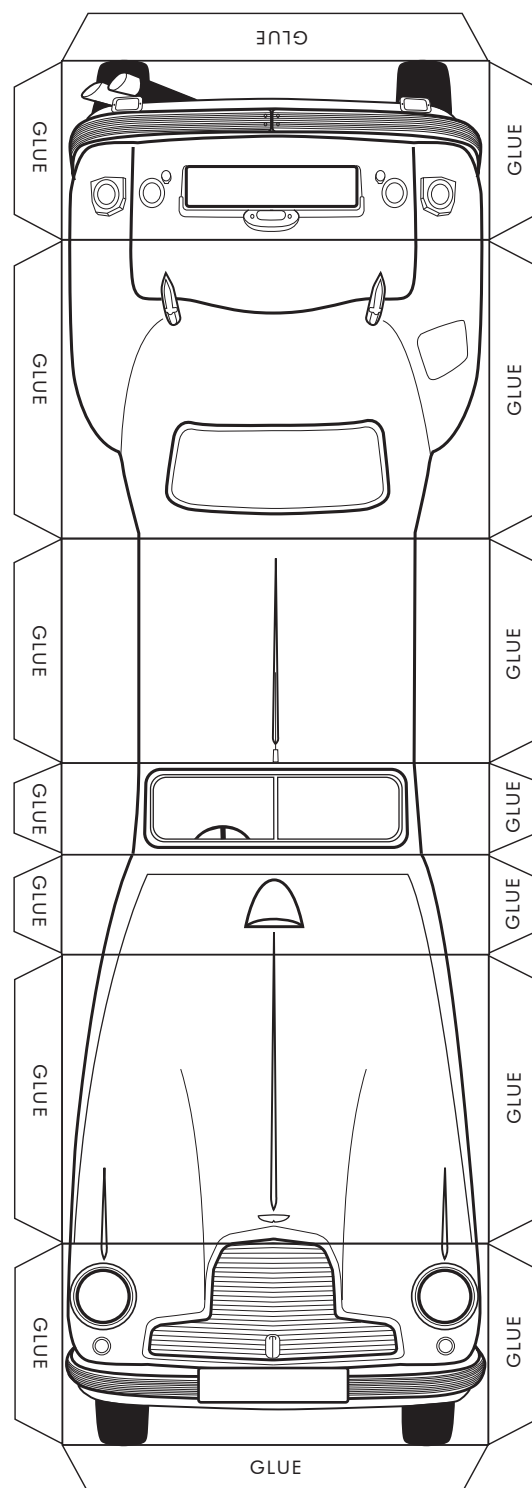

FUN FACT: The DB10 was the only car to appear in a James Bond film and never make it into production. Only 10 were made for filming purposes.
